WOMAN CONFESSES SHE HIRED FOREIGNERS TO "SCARE" HER HUSBAND

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 10.—Dan F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood, Ohio, publisher, met death two years ago after attacking two foreigners who had been engaged by Mrs. Kaber to pose as spirits to frighten him into a better attitude toward her, according to a statement which the New York World says Chief of Police Christensen obtained from Mrs. Kaber here.

The newspaper quotes Chief Christensen as saying that Mrs. Kaber had consulted a woman medium for advice on how to change her husband's attitude toward her. The publisher's early manner after an illness is said to have occasioned the visit. By advice of the medium, Mrs. Kaber was said to have employed two foreigners to appear at her husband's bedside in the night as ghosts and as she expressed it, to try to shake a little civility into him. Around from his slumber, Kaber is alleged to have attacked the two men and was stabbed to death by them in the struggle.

FAMOUS PALACE OF RECTORS NOW CLOSED TO PUBLIC

(By Associated Press)
RAGUSA, Dalmatia, June 10.—The famous Palace of Rectors in this ancient fortress city has been closed to the public. The palace contained many priceless gems of painting and sculpture dating back to the Renaissance.

In one of the anti-Italian demonstrations, soldiers invaded the palace and destroyed practically all the paintings and sculpture. So much damage was done that now no one is permitted to enter the palace, which formerly was the chief treasure house of the city. Serbian soldiers now stand guard at the entrance and have orders to refuse entrance to anyone not on official business.

In like manner, many of the old relics of Venetian art and culture, which were to be found all along the Dalmatian coast, evidence of former Venetian glory, have been torn down and destroyed.

Are the fellows who fix the prices for it in on this no-tobacco movement?

Commencement exercises were held last evening in the auditorium of the Tonopah high school building at which time 22 graduates received diplomas for their ethical and efficient work percentages required by the high schools of this state. The auditorium was packed with proud parents and admiring friends to witness the splendid program of the evening. The building and stage were artistically decorated in blue and white, the class colors for the occasion.

Tonopah should be proud in the knowledge that last night's graduating class was the largest in the history of the local high school, and an untold praise is heard from pupils and parents for the good work performed during the past year under Superintendent George L. Dilworth and his efficient corps of teachers.

The address which was to have been delivered to the graduating class by R. C. Thompson, professor of philosophy at the University of Nevada, was changed by request, and he took as his subject "The Worth of a Man," which he handled in a highly interesting and instructive manner. His discourse will be long remembered by the graduates and his words should do much in shaping the lives of those who received diplomas.

Superintendent George L. Dilworth presented the diplomas to the young ladies and gentlemen who had won them by four years of hard study and who now are prepared to enter universities to finish their education. After the exercises dancing was indulged in by both young and old for a couple of hours.
